

SUCCUBUS

WRITERS' PACK

- We are looking for submissions of 300-400 words in a Microsoft word docx format.
- We publish observational humour, whimsy and direct parody as well as larger political concepts, but try to avoid an on-the-nose / preachy tone.
- The headline should be a one liner joke that stands on its own. Make the headline laugh-out-loud funny. Would you retweet it?
- Your best chance of avoiding overlap existing published or soon-to-be published content is to familiarise yourself with the site and be as original as possible. We do not accept submissions that have been previously published on another platform. Work published on Succubus cannot be republished on another platform without written permission from the editorial team.
- We may edit your piece to fit the tone of our website. We will always consult you first.
- In a few weeks, Succubus will use Google AdSense. Writers will then be entitled to the revenue earned by any pieces attributed to them. Writers will be issued monthly invoice requests from the Succubus finance team once a threshold of £5 has been met (if the threshold is not met, payment will roll over to the next calendar month). Writers must submit invoices in order to receive payment. Succubus advertising policy is subject to adjustment. Published writers will be notified of any changes.
- Due to the high volume of submissions and are only able to contact you if we'd like to run your piece, so if we don't get back to you within two weeks then feel free to send your submission elsewhere. It's most definitely our loss.

Please send submissions to:
submissions@succubusmag.com